About the Brewery

Back in the 1980s, our founder Richard Squire was your typical ski bum – with one significant difference. He had a knack for making extraordinary home brews. For years, only his closest friends were able to enjoy his creations, but it didn't take long for Richard to realize that his talents needed to be shared with the world.

So, in February of 1990, Richard opened the doors of Breckenridge Brewery, Colorado's third craft brewery, in charming and historic Breckenridge. He wanted to serve fresh, quality beer and homemade food in a relaxed atmosphere that everyone could enjoy. It didn't take long for locals and visitors alike to appreciate these simple values, and within a few short years Breckenridge Brewery was the highlight of Main Street.

About the Brewery

Back in the 1980s, our founder Richard Squire was your typical ski bum – with one significant difference. He had a knack for making extraordinary home brews. For years, only his closest friends were able to enjoy his creations, but it didn't take long for Richard to realize that his talents needed to be shared with the world.

In February of 1990, Richard opened the doors of Breckenridge Brewery, Colorado's third craft brewery, in charming and historic Breckenridge. He wanted to serve fresh, quality beer and homemade food in a relaxed atmosphere that everyone could enjoy. It didn't take long for locals and visitors alike to appreciate these simple values, and within a few short years Breckenridge Brewery was the highlight of Main Street.

In 1992, the brewery expanded its operations to Denver so that we could share the magic with more folks in Colorado. The Denver facility was the first Colorado brewery to average craft beer in 6-packs and 12-packs. In 2012 we finished construction on a new production brewery 8 miles north of Denver in Golden. On 12 beautiful acres we can enjoy brewery tours, a delicious meal in our Farm House restaurant, or just hang out in our beer garden playing bocce ball or lawn bowls with friends in the Golden sunshine.

Today, we can find our collection of beers in 30 states. However, our passion remains the same: create balanced, approachable and unpretentious hand-crafted beers. The original brewery in Breckenridge remains a favorite spot for families and friends to gather. Our humble beginning as a "mom and pop" craft brewery in Breckenridge is important to our company, and we strive to keep our history and character alive and thriving.
